

The shooter shoots from seven positions on a semicircle with a radius of 21 yards (19 m), and an eighth position halfway between stations 1 and 7. There are two houses that hold devices that launch the targets, one at each corner of the semicircle. At stations 1 and 2 the shooter shoots at single targets launched from the high house and then the low house, then shoots a double where the two targets are launched simultaneously but shooting the high house target first. At stations 3, 4, and 5 the shooter shoots at single targets launched from the high house and then the low house. At stations 6 and 7 the shooter shoots at single targets launched from the high house and then the low house, then shoots a double, shooting the low house target first then the high house target. At station 8 the shooter shoots one high target and one low target.

Playing The Game

1. A shooter start from station 1 to 8 ( one round )
2. In one round consists of 25 targets
3. Shooters divided in 6-shooters squad, fire 5 qualification rounds of 25 targets each or 125 targets.
4. The six shooters with the highest qualification scores enter the Final and shall shoot 25 targets each.

SKEET

Last Updated Thursday, 27 February 2014 10:19

---

5. The shooter who has the highest in the total of the qualification and final scores shall be an individual winner.

6. The total of 5 qualification scores of each team shall be the team winner. (Team consist of 3 shooters)

* In International competitions the course of fire is 125 shots for men and 75 shots for women.